

SOUTH CAROLINA

Welcome to South Carolina, the Palmetto State!

South Carolina was the 8th state in the US; it became a state on May 23, 1788.

South Carolina was the first state to ratify the Articles of Confederation, and the 8th state to ratify the U.S. Constitution on May 23, 1788. South Carolina later became the first state to vote to secede from the Union which it did on December 20, 1860. It was readmitted to the United States on June 25, 1868.

The South Carolina Tour features drives around Greenville, an excellent place to practice driving. The South Carolina Tour takes us through six scenarios such as heading out for a cup of coffee, driving to work in rush hour, driving to school, and running errands. In these drives, we get to experience the Greenville area.

While you should always be looking for each of the eleven critical items, in these drives, pay particular attention to bicyclists, pedestrians, speed bumps and turning vehicles.

Enjoy your Tour!
